

The new Sturiër Dutchman DME Explorer range is designed as a long-distance traveller. The hulls of our DME Explorer range are constructed for Ice Class 1 and ensure true go-anywhere capabilities. Their timeless and fresh style exudes practicality and provides superb comfort everywhere in the world.

The new Sturiër DME (dutchman) Explorer range is designed as a long-distance traveller. Every DME features a reliable strong metal construction (hull construction Ice class I certifiat option), no nonsense straight forward systems and perfect good seaworthiness. The robust exterior styling has its origin in the way that vessels behave in seagoing conditions resulting in the high flared bow and typical backward bulwark providing a safe working deck for crew in all weather conditions. The sturdy equipment on board, such as anchor winch, rudders, bow thrusters engines ensures the reliability during long offshore voyages. These features and many more make the DM Explorer recognized as no nonsense go anywhere concept. The relatively wide beam of the original DM Explorer offers more space for interior. Together with a clever interior layout the DME supports long residence on board. The big Fly has enough deck space to store a Dinghy, and space for sun bathing a bar and sitting space. The aft with a open cockpit. Thanks to its exceptionally smart construction, the yacht retains the elegant lines so characteristic of the brand. The Sturiër DME features sturdy lines, and its dimensions and shallow draught make it suitable in shallow water.
